Comments and Suggestions:

- Student passwords should not be visible to the adviser. It's more secure if the system will generate the password that the student will use so that that account can be more secure.
- System admin should be able register the students' accounts.
- The enrollment and the registration should be distinct from each other.
- If the student once had an account, there's no need to enroll. Otherwise, they should be able to enroll. Find a way to prevent duplicate accounts.
- It's better to remove the Password column in the CSV file that the adviser can access.
- Graded tasks should be separate from the non-graded tasks.
- The numbers in the classworks or dashboards should not just be numbers, it's better if it could be elaborated.
- In the documents under the student dashboard, if there are new requirements, it may be added there.
- The coordinator can possibly upload new documents and If there are updates in the documents, the students must be notified.
- Add the start date feature when there's no need to set it that same day.
- The start date should already be set and scheduled, aside from the end date/due date.
- When passing classwork, the student should be aware regarding the step-by-step process.
- The submission should have an option for weekly submission.
- The points of the graded works should automatically be generated.
- "Turned in" must be changed to "Submitted"

- Add more colors to submissions, explore more colors than red and green for status like late.
- Data analysis must be used.
- For the pointing system, it's better to use rubrics as a picture that can be used to grade the students.
- Have a feature that will email the students of the deadline a day or two days before.
- DTR can be submitted at the end of the semester or at the end of their OJT

(for the manuscript)

- The problems should be placed at the introduction.
- Make the introduction shorter and more concise.
- Mention PUP San Juan more
- Your Likert scale must be revised.
